PRESIDENT AND CEO OF HAWAIIAN AIRLINES TO SAY 'ALOHA' TO AVIATION CLUB UK

Mark Dunkerley, President and CEO of Hawaiian Airlines, is the latest head of a major international airline to address the Aviation Club of the UK. Mr Dunkerley, who was educated at the London School of Economics and the UK's Cranfield Institute of Technology, will speak at a luncheon on Wednesday 21 September at the Institute of Directors in Pall Mall, London.

His subject will be: "creeping re-regulation: how governments are taking us backwards."

Now in its 87th year of consecutive service, Hawaiian Airlines is Hawaii's biggest and longest-serving airline, as well as the largest provider of passenger air service from the US mainland. Hawaiian offers non-stop service to Hawaii from eleven US gateway cities along with service from American Samoa, Australia, China, Japan, New Zealand, South Korea and Tahiti.

Mark has led a major turnaround of the airline which he joined in 2002 having previously held senior positions with British Airways and Sabena. Hawaiian is the eighth largest airline in the US and carried more than 10 million passengers in 2015.

Jane Johnston, Chairman of the Aviation Club said: "Mark has had a distinguished career in aviation and is also an accomplished aerobatic pilot. With such impressive aviation credentials, Mark is sure to give our members and their guests an insightful view of the ups and downs of the airline industry."
